

A REQUEST TO PROPERTY OWNERS AND RESIDENTS

From time to time, officials of the town as well as the Cushing Health Officer, fire department, rescue squad, library, etc. have had a need to contact property owners and residents of Cushing for various reasons. In the past, when most people had land lines and the telephone companies issued Phone books, people could be reached even if in another state. However, all this has changed with cell phones and the internet. Now if you don't know a person's exact contact information, it is virtually impossible to locate and communicate with them other than by the US Postal Service.

Consequently, we would like to request property owners and residents provide their preferred contact information. This is strictly voluntary. You don't have to do this, but it would be helpful if you would. Your contact information will not be given out randomly, but only to those who are connected to the town and for a specific purpose. If you are willing, please provide any or all of the following:

Name: _____

Cushing Address: _____

#1 Cell Phone Number: _____

#2 Cell Phone Number: _____

E-mail address: _____

There is another Service we would like you to be aware of. The Cushing Post. This is an information/event newsletter that Aurora Northgraves has heroically managed. She publishes this newsletter only to those who send her their email address and she does not give out addresses for any purpose whatsoever. It's a great newsletter for anyone interested in what's going on in town and nearby. Notices and events are announced and sometimes items are posted for sale.

This service is separate from the above Town request. So if you are interested in knowing what's happening in Cushing year round, you should send your email address to:
